FlyWestair launches Eros Airport to Ondangwa route

FlyWestair, Westair Aviation's new scheduled passenger airline, is proud to announce a new route between Eros Airport Windhoek and Ondangwa four times per week. The flights, which are scheduled for every Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday, will depart twice daily (see schedule below).

On Monday 24 June 2019, Westair Aviation's first scheduled passenger flight took off from Eros Airport to Oranjemund. The company was granted Designated Carrier status by the Namibian Transport Commission earlier this year. This accreditation makes Westair Aviation an official scheduled passenger airline, with flights to various destinations within the country and the sub region, under the brand name FlyWestair. The first route to have rolled out was three scheduled flights per week from Eros Airport in Windhoek to Oranjemund. This makes the route between Eros Airport and Ondangwa the company's second local route, with more to follow.

Additional new destinations to be introduced include Cape Town (served from Oranjemund and Windhoek), Walvis Bay and Johannesburg. Local flights on these routes are planned to start shortly, with regional flights introduced from August 2019 subject to on service agreements being reached with authorities and service
